

Sea Recipe

Ingredients:

A pogo stick (waves)	Human bone (coral)
Popcorn (saltiness)	Star from Galaxy (starfish)
Leaves falling (sound of sea)	Scissors for claws (crab)
Ink (colour)	Legs of a centipede (octopus)
Sand 9gold)	Crystals (shine of sea)
Crocodile skin (fish)	Mop (seaweed)

- ★ For the inky blackness of the sea, flick ink from an octopus, let it darken the depths of the ocean.
- ★ To make the sea shine, rub a crystal onto the curly waves, allow it to tingle with a sparkle.
- ★ Sprinkle a waterfall of leaves, all different colours from a rainbow, gently swirling round and down, for the whistle and rustle of the sea.
- ★ Take a pinch of popcorn, watch the salt burst out, to create the salty tang of the ocean.
- ★ To mould the waves, find a pogo stick, prance around to add a touch of curl to the waves.
- ★ For the crumbly sand take a slab of gold and crush it, then dollop the gold into the deep never-ending whirlpool.
- ★ Peel off a crocodile's dry, desert-like skin to create the bright, speedy fish.
- ★ Snap a human's bone, hear it crackle and jolt, suddenly it's a rough jagged piece of coral
- ★ Steal and snatch a star from the galaxy, for the bubbly, sticky starfish. Paint the star and toss it down, down, down ...
- ★ Take an eerie echo of a tunnel, for a whale's call across the wide world to its brother, screeching all alone.
- ★ Take a sour lemon as sour as can be and stick two scissors at the end of each side, that is how you make a sour crab.
- ★ Pick a long petal off a sunflower, then brush the petal and attach it to a solemn blob of fish. There now you have a squirmy, shy octopus.
- ★ Finally collect a saggy mop, squeeze all the water out, separate each end, dip the mop into moss, release the mop ends into the sea, at once it becomes seaweed.
